+ Internal mesh dividers allow carrying two AR15 /5.56 type magazines in each cargo pocket whilst closing the flap to securely hold the pocket's content in place
+ A nylon laser cut tab placed on the back of the knee towards inner thigh allows keeping external kneepads on unsinged but ready for action
+ Leg openings can be adjusted to personal preference and situation or boot style by hook/loop closure

+ Fit has been specifically made to accommodate either female (62044NL) or male operators (72205NL). Both styles take current anthropometrics of military personnel into consideration
+ Seams are placed in strategic positions to prevent chafing
+ Biceps pocket placement, sizing and opening direction have been made to accommodate current military end user's preferences
+ Zipper pull tab cords and hook/loop tabs on sleeve openings are designed to allow easy manipulation with gloves
+ All visible surfaces including the knit body material and loop patches are printed in MultiCam to prevent unnatural contrasting colour blocks and "hard edges"

A FOUNDATION
BUILT ON GRANITE

THE 5.11 TACTICAL STORY

The name "5.11" originates from the Yosemite Decimal System, a scale that measures the difficulty of rock climbing routes. In the 1950s, a 5.11 rating was considered one of the most challenging climbs.

The first "5.11 Pant" was specifically designed for rock climbing, offering extreme durability along with strategically placed pockets and straps for accessories and tools. This innovation redefined functional apparel and laid the foundation for 5.11's ongoing commitment to durability, versatility, and innovation.

ALWAYS BE READY.

2023
5.11 celebrates its 20-year anniversary and launches the V.XI line.

2018
5.11 EMEA opens the first European retail store in Hamburg, Germany.

2003
5.11 is formed as a separate company starting with a collection of six products focusing on law enforcement and a growing tactical market.

1992
FBI Academy F.T.U. adopts the 5.11 Tactical Pant as its training pant.

1979
The 5.11 Pant, named after - at the time - the hardest degree of climbing in the Yosemite Decimal System, sets a new standard for functional apparel.

1968
Royal and his wife Liz get into the clothing business with the mission to create durable and comfortable clothes made for climbing.

1961
Royal Robbins and two friends climb the hardest rock face in the world - the Salathe Wall on El Capitan in Yosemite.
